WE ARE YOUR STUDENTS' UNION. WE MADE THESE GUIDES TO 'WINGING IT' IN UCD, SO YOU DON'T GET RIPPED OFF. WE WANT YOU TO EXCEL IN ALL ASPECTS OF LIFE, NOT JUST IN YOUR GRADES.

ABOUT US

These booklets were written, designed and published by UCD Students' Union. We are Your Students' Union.

Each year we receive €28 per each member from the Government. We were founded to fight for a fair and affordable education system and to make that system accountable to students. This means students have a say on course content, exam regulations, disciplinary regulations and how the University spends its money. It also means fighting for a university that is accessible for all regardless of background as well as standing up for the rights of students when they are here. Therefore, we campaign for things like access to abortion, immigration status and marriage equality.

We made these guides to 'Winging it' in UCD, so you don't get ripped off. We want you to excel in all aspects of life, not just in your grades. We're fighting historic cuts to education that have made this place so expensive. But in the meantime, read this to avoid losing an arm and a leg - to a university that's being run more and more like a soulless corporation.

Ruairí Power President

ruairi.power@ucdsu.ie

Howdy,

My name is Ruairí and I'm your Students' Union President. I'm a psychology undergrad student from Clarecastle in Co. Clare.

I got involved in the Students' Union for the first time in 2020 during the protests against rent increases on campus. I was the Welfare Officer for the last year and am pure buzzed to be sticking around for another as President.

My main focus for the year is working to tackle the rampant commercialisation of the higher education sector so we can create a more accessible, affordable and welcoming UCD. If there's something you would like the SU to work on this year, we'd love to hear from you.

Molly Greenough Welfare Officer

molly.greenough@ucdsu.ie

Hey there, my name is Molly Greenough and I'm your Welfare Officer! I'm 22 years old and originally from Boston, Massachusetts. I've spent the past four years in Dublin and just finished up my final year of Law with Social Justice.

The SU has been a constant fixture in my life during my time in UCD, sparking my passion for student representation and activism. The four main areas I want to focus on this year are: mental health, housing, harm reduction, and sexual health and wellbeing.

As well, I will dedicate myself to casework and being an approachable, compassionate, and an understanding first point of contact for any student in need - whether you're facing mental health, financial, physical or sexual health difficulties. Please get in touch with any issues, we're all here to support you

Carla Gummerson
Graduate Officer

carla.gummerson@ucdsu.ie

Hi everyone,

My name is Carla Gummerson, I am 33 and I am from Wicklow. I have a bachelor's in social science and a master's degree in public policy. I was the Auditor of the Mature Student Society for two years, during which I had the ability to gain great skills but most importantly I made some great friends. For the past year I have been your Graduate Officer and I am very thankful to have another year of helping and supporting UCD students.

I will be putting on events for postgraduate students, support them with various academic issues, and I will be providing a PhD Conference Fund. I am very excited about the year ahead. I cannot wait to reach out to students to guide and empower them during the year. If you ever need support or would like to see your graduate officer doing something specific like an event or campaign, please reach out by email.

Sarah Michalek
Entertainments Officer

sarah.michalek@ucdsu.ie

Instagram: @the_entstagram

Hey everyone!

I'm Sarah and I'm your Entertainments or Ents Officer. It'll be my aim to bring back the craic on campus (as restrictions on in-person activities ease!), with lots of acts, workshops, nights out and plenty of events. Charities will be another big focus. This year we will be supporting Empower the Family through the volunteer programme we set up with them last year and through fundraising.

If you're interested in getting involved in Ents (being at the heart of helping out with events!) or want to know more about it, don't hesitate to pop me an email at sarah.michalek@ucdsu.ie or send me a DM on Instagram @the_entstagram!

Darryl Horan
Campaigns and Engagement Officer

darryl.horan@ucdsu.ie

Hi All,

I'm Darryl Horan and I'm your incoming Campaigns & Engagement Officer.

A bit about myself, I'm 23, from Laois and just finishing up a Masters in Global History. I am no stranger to campaigning, I've been involved in take back the city, the climate strike protests of 2020 and more recently anti-racism initiatives like Unite Against Racism and Le Chéile.

As your Campaigns officer I want to help rebuild student activism.

This will mean getting back out to students and running on the ground campaigns. Let's build student power and I hope to see you there!

Aoife Bracken
Education Officer

aoife.bracken@ucdsu.ie

My name is Aoife Bracken and I am your Education Officer. I completed my undergraduate in Politics and International Relations this year.

During my time in UCD I've been a Class Rep, an OCM and Auditor of the Politics and International Relations Society, and I've been a volunteer with UCD Volunteers Overseas.

I was also lucky enough to get through half of my Erasmus+ year in Cologne, Germany before COVID-19 pushed everything online. As your Education Officer I will be a helping hand for students who need advice and assistance on academic issues.

WHAT'S A STUDENTS' UNION ANYWAYS?

A Students' Union, much like a traditional union are groups of people who come together to fight for better conditions and rights for every member that makes up the union. The good news – you're already a member! UCDSU is made up of over 30,000 students; you become a member automatically when you enter UCD as a student. In the UCDSU office, there are six sabbatical officers that any student can reach out to for help. There are also class reps, campaign coordinators, ents officers and college officers that help the students with UCD life.

As a Student's Union, our goal is to empower you. Through our executive, the union represents students on boards and committee meetings, we stand up for the rights of every student, we campaign for fair treatment of students and staff, and on a day-to-day level, we support you in a host of areas. We are only as strong as you make us; the more you get involved, the more seriously we are taken as an organisation.

WHAT DO WE DO?

Collectively we are often at several things at once; we provide student support throughout their educational experience with our education officer Aoife, e.g., helping with exam supports, advice on navigating UCD and signposting students to get all issues resolved. Our Welfare officer Molly is here to help you with all things welfare wise; she can post one of our very generous welfare care packages – full to the brim with condoms, tampons, lubricant or almost anything a student needs to ensure a safe college experience. Carla, our ever-capable graduate officer, is here to support you both on the education and welfare side, but just for you graduate students!

On the fun side, you have Sarah and Darryl. Sarah is our Ents Officer, any event you want the SU to run – Sarah's your person, and she's looking forward to a year of on-site, online and off-campus events to keep students busy and entertained. Darryl is the resident agitator and Campaigns Officer. If there are any campaign or burning issues you are passionate about; Darryl will make sure your voice will be heard. Lastly, there's our Students' Union President Ruairí. Ruairí brings the team together and ensures that university management, the government, or any other stakeholder knows the concerns of UCD students.

We offer a range of services, and we hope you'll take us up on them. We print off your Student Leap Cards in our corridor in the old student centre. You can book appointments with the Sabbatical Officers on the website, drop us an email, or call in during our office hours. We are there for you no matter the issue e.g., plagiarism or residential hearings; we provide advice and can be the backup you need. Accommodation supports? Several of our officers have threshold training and want to help. Campaigns or Lobbying? Our Campaigns Officer has a wealth of campaigning experience and would be delighted to help you achieve your aims.

LETTER FROM DARRYL

As your Campaigns & Engagement Officer, I want your voice to be heard and for your experience in UCD to be as close to perfect as is possible. Campaigns have been vital to life at UCD, access to abortion materials especially, this coming year I want this proud tradition of a fighting Students' Union to not only continue but get bigger and more imaginative.

Keep this booklet handy, along with the others that will be published throughout the year, these will guide you through the experience that is student life at UCD. College can be difficult at times, but getting the support and advice you need shouldn't be!

UCDSU ACTIVISM & HISTORY

UCDSU & YOUR REPRODUCTIVE

The SU has been defending your reproductive rights from State oppression for nearly 45 years. The very first year we were set up, there was a virtual State ban on condoms. Back in 1975 you couldn't get them without a prescription. So, we paid £170 for Ireland's first ever condom machine. 50p for a 4 pack and no genital herpes. We had it up in Belfield a week before the university stole it off us... So, we bought another one. If it sounds crazy that condoms were illegal, remember this was an Ireland where getting divorce and being gay were illegal activities; We've erred on the right side of history for decades. When the act of sodomy was a crime, we fought for LGBT rights and rallied behind UCD Gay Soc. When you couldn't even talk about abortion, when it was a crime to tell people where to get one in the UK, we published a list of clinics overseas and fought the 8th amendment all the way to the Supreme Court.

For over 40 years, we've backed up the votes of UCD students by telling the State and others to stop policing our reproductive rights. Today we still give out free condoms from our offices, we still campaign for abortion rights and we've started fighting for PrEP to be licensed by the HSE. Ever since being set up, we've campaigned for your liberty to have or NOT have sex with whoever you want, without risk of crisis pregnancy, STIs or getting locked up. If ever you feel like the State or any member of this college is crossing the line with your sex life or your sexuality, then please come to us for representation.

UCDSU AND ABORTION

In 1983, a woman named Sheila Hodggers died because a hospital refused to treat her cancers when they found out she was pregnant. This tragic event, rather than sparking a more compassionate and understanding attitude in people, instead lead to the referendum on the 8th Amendment. This amendment put the life of the foetus on par with the life of the mother. The students of UCD passed a mandate for the SU to provide abortion information to women back in 1988. On foot of this came the SPUC v Coogan case, where the Society for the Protection of the Unborn Child sued 8 officers of UCDSU for providing this info. Not unlike the times when we got in trouble for providing illegal contraceptives back in the day, we continued providing the information, which lead to a protracted legal argument that all first-year law students now learn about. Although we received serious legal opposition, we were also supported by a lot of people. We got letters of support from Trinity SU, Cambridge SU, USI, NCAD and the Abortion Information Campaign. We knew that there were plenty of people who wanted us to keep the fight going, so we never gave up, and never stopped the fight for bodily autonomy.

REFERENDUM 2018

The Students' Union is not just made up of raving lunatics and political cowboys. It's not all lock-ins, legal battles, presidential impeachments and loitering around Leinster House. Your SU does so much work on campus that affects the lives of every individual student in a much more direct way. Your six elected Sabbatical Officers work full-time to represent you at university level and are here to support you in every aspect of your college life. "The SU serves and supports all UCD students by providing a voice and space for them to enhance their college experience. The SU is student-led and continuously adapts to the evolving needs of the student body." our efforts. Repealing the 8th amendment was our Everest, and we were always going to reach the summit. We covered up graphic imagery so that people weren't traumatised on their way into college; we designed posters that were so acclaimed that Together for Yes groups from all around the country wanted to use them; we registered hundreds of students to vote. Through all the spiteful words and hateful comments that the No side threw our way during the campaign, we provided a safe space for students to talk to our Welfare Officer about their own experiences of abortion. And when the result was announced on the 26th of May 2018, we celebrated with the best of them.

That's our mission statement, but what does that really mean for you? At the end of the day, it means that we're here for you. Be it organising nights out and gigs, fundraising for charities that benefit our student body, representing you in academic and disciplinary hearings and supporting our amazing volunteers, Class Reps and activists as they fight for great causes. The SU is yours to shape how you see fit through your Class Reps and College Officers. Bop along to Council on Monday nights in the Fitzgerald Chamber and be part of the action - it's like a Dáil debate, except they all know what they're talking about, and nobody advocates for drink driving.

GET INVOLVED

BE PART OF THE MADNESS

You've heard the suss, you've seen the absolute chaos, now it's your turn to get involved and do some damage with UCDSU. Getting involved in activities outside your college hours is what university is all about and makes a real difference when it comes time to graduate.

SO, HOW IS THE SU STRUCTURED?

The SU is run by six full time Sabbatical Officers and nine part-time College Officers each year. Together they are known as the Executive. Alongside them are the Class Reps, who are elected by their peers to represent different courses, schools, and stages across the UCD student journey.

WHO CAN BE A CLASS REP?

In short, if you're a UCD student, you can run and you can vote – all students can! This is your Union and you have the right to have your voice heard, by running for election yourself, or by voting, or both! Having registered at UCD, you are now automatically a member of UCD Students' Union. Every student studying an undergraduate or post graduate degree, diploma or PhD can run for Class Rep; you do not need to have any prior experience to run for a SU role.

WHAT IS SU COUNCIL?

Every September, each class elects their reps who sit on SU Council held every two weeks during term time. Council is where all the big decisions are made and comprises of Class Reps, College Officers, Campaign Coordinators, Entertainments Reps and Sabbatical Officers. Any one of them can bring forward a motion which gets voted and can be rejected, amended or passed, and added to our policy book. This can include things like pushing for more recycling bins on campus, requiring the Welfare Officer to provide free pregnancy tests and campaigning on things like marriage equality, abortion rights and safe drug consumption; council is your chance to tell us what you want and to work with us to achieve it. You can find out more on how council works, our constitution and policy book at – <https://www.ucdsu.ie/union-council>

GET INVOLVED

CAMPAIGNS FORUM

Alongside our class reps every year UCDSU elects nine campaign coordinators. Love to protest and be active with everything from housing, mental health, gender equality, drug legalization and the environment? This is the place for you. The current roles are LGBTQ+, Gender Equality, Mental Health, Disability, International, Residences, Mature Students, Diversity and Inclusion, and Environmental. Each Campaign Coordinator assembles a crew and works with the Campaigns and Engagement Officer to campaign on issues relating to your role.

ENTS FORUM

The Ents Forum is a team of people working to create the best events possible for all students throughout the year, alongside the Entertainments Officer. It consists of 6 positions. The first is the Production Officer. They're in charge of helping run all the events put on (online/ livestreaming/ adapting to how we'll put on events safely!). Promotions Officer – In charge of promoting all events happening throughout the year, both on the Entstagram (@the_entstagram on instagram; the SU events page basically!). First Year Promotions Officer – aimed at all new first years! Non-Alcoholic Events Officer – helping run/ come up with ideas for non-alcoholic events throughout the year. Ents Rep Coordinator – in charge of helping recruit, manage and update Entertainments Reps (who play smaller roles by helping at events, but only help when they can!). RAG (Raise and Give) Committee Coordinator – in charge of helping with all thing's charity, raising money, facilitating charity events, and working with our charities.

THE LAW – HELPFUL DO’S AND DON’TS

CLAMPING

AN GARDA SHUCKALONI

You’ve had a good night so far– Cans were drank, blue ghosts may have been dropped, and bit of the aul’ mother ganja was inhaled. Now one of Templemore’s finest is standing in front of you in a hi-vis jacket, and you’re panicking – a bit. There’s probably a fierce hum of weed off you, He’ll definitely be smelling it; relax, paranoia is a dead giveaway. Here’s a few words of ‘wisdom’ about your rights when stopped by the shuckaloni:.

0.1 ASK QUESTIONS

You can only be stopped and searched if the officer has reason to suspect you of committing or being about to commit an offence. Ask what legislation it is they think you have broken or are about to break.

0.2 WHERE’S THE WARRANT

While your person and your vehicle can be searched if you were suspected of an offence under the Misuse of Drugs Act, a premises or dwelling can only be searched if the Garda has a warrant. Remember a dwelling includes the tent you’re staying in for the length of a festival. Demand that warrant!

0.3 KEEP IT ZIPPED

You don’t have to give the officer your name and address if you don’t want to unless they believe you’re guilty of a specific offence. If they cannot name the law they are stopping you under, then you can exercise your right to just walk away.

0.4 DON’T GET CHEEKY

Being threatening, insulting, or abusive can be an offence in itself. Keep your head down, ask questions, and if possible, don’t give them a reason to suspect you in the first place.

One of the first things to know about UCD is that it’s patrolled by clampers who see their job as a vocation. If you’ve a permit, you’re generally grand but we occasionally get emails from students who’ve been wrongly clamped.

Very few independent appeals are successful so if you get clamped for no reason, go through your Students’ Union. For those of you who want to take justice into your own hands, you can always try and take off the clamp by yourself; private clamping is a civil matter.

There is no criminal law which applies to you if you remove the clamp unless you damage it or lose it. That’s classed as destruction of property or theft and you’ll be prosecuted for it.

So legally removing a clamp is impossible unless you’re completely sure of not damaging or losing it and being able to return it in person to the NCPS. Unless you’re 100% confident of your ability to do all that, then just appeal the clamping through us.

If you do decide to remove it, make sure you contact them in advance to arrange returning the clamp undamaged.

EATING OUT IN UCD

For those lucky who have been lucky enough to win the lottery – eating every day in UCD can be a tasty experience. However, for those of us who rely on pot noodles, homemade sandwiches and a lovely cup of unfiltered water, we would be lucky to score Subway or a lunch from Pulse once without taking out a fucking mortgage. That being said, the standard of food on campus is generally decent so grab your knife and fork and dig into that delicious SUSI Grant with this

CENTRA

Haunted by residents of Merville nursing headaches from the cheap wine but a great place for the chicken fillet roll, burrito bowl is a bit steep though. It's a good location for Sutherland and Quinn but a trek for everyone else; it can be more expensive than SU shops as their focus is profit whereas ours is value. Honestly!

UCDSU SHOPS

You'll find the SU shops underneath the library, in Eng and in the Sports Centre. They're run by students with a focus on providing the best value and service for students, so you might see a few familiar faces in the staff t-shirts. We try to have as much diversity in our food options as possible and stock a variety of veggie, vegan and gluten free options. If you think we are missing something, let us know at su@ucdsu.ie. The only negative is we don't take UCard. Each year we decide to give a portion of the shop's profits to our chosen charities for the year – Empower the Family and Jigsaw. PS: The salad tubs, bin bags, coffee cups and cutlery you'll find in SU Shops are all compostable; every penny of profit from the shops goes back into your Union so that we can help students like you with a whole host of services. We provide representation as well as educational and welfare support. Free buses to exams, stationery and study fuel. We campaign, lobby and protest issues affecting UCD students. We create volunteering opportunities and platforms to grow your skills, not to mention gigs, events and on-campus entertainment – so it's money well spent.

THE CLUBHOUSE BAR

Great if you need to get in a solid plate of soakage before a night out. You can even get a head start on the others by ordering a cheeky pint with it. It's not all cheap but there's a few good cheap options like chips and the portion sizes tend to be massive!

SUBWAY

The classic. €4 for a 6-inch and €6 for a footlong. Ye know the craic, tasty on most occasions but don't make it a regular occurrence if you're on the health buzz. Staff are generally friendly but the meatball marinara is friendlier.

POOLSIDE CAFÉ

Poolside is located – you guessed it – beside the swimming pool. Their lack of imagination, thankfully, shows on their menu, too. They focus on doing the simple things right, which means you can get some of the best hangover food here. Why not sweat the badness out in the sauna, then hit up Poolside for a ham and cheese toastie, or a beautifully greasy sausage roll? They also sell protein bars and protein shakes, for the gym bunnies among us. Can't say we hold with that sort of thing, though.

PI RESTAURANT

The local for science students as it's on the ground floor of their building; it has a tasty and varied menu for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Really good hash browns at breakfast and they'll usually have a veggie option, and prices are not bad.

PULSE

One of the healthiest places for lunch is, of course, in Health Science, but also, one of the most expensive. Make your own salad or roll from fresh, varied ingredients but don't buy a bottle of water or a snack, unless Mum and Dad are paying the rent. They give out their coffee grinds as fertilizer though and the staff are lovely!

1. Find the secret lake.
2. Drink cans at the secret lake.
3. Smoke a... rollie at the secret lake.
4. Run to be class rep.
5. Become an anarchist.
6. Go to a pre drinks in every res accommodation.
7. Go to a ball.
8. Get on UCD Confessions for being an absolute ride that drives a Volkswagen Golf.
9. Join 5+ societies you'll probably never go to a single meeting for (the free stuff is worth the €2)
10. Go to an SU protest.
11. Fight for prime real-estate in the library during exam season.
12. Go on a tinder date in the Clubhouse.
13. Go looking for the underground tunnels and realise they're nowhere near as interesting as everyone says.
14. Channel your inner David Attenborough and become the resident swan expert.
15. Fall asleep in a lecture.
16. Steal a traffic cone while drunk.
17. Sheepishly put it back the next day after you may have caused a serious accident.
18. Pull an all-nighter to finish an assignment you were given 6 months ago and say you'll never do it again.
19. Proceed to do it again.
20. Lose your virginity.
21. Get an STI check.
22. Fail an exam... then send a panicked email to education@ucdsu.ie
23. Take a poop in the basement of Newman bathrooms.
24. Wake up in the morning with stamps from nightclubs you've never heard of before.
25. Keep track of how many ducklings get eaten from the main lake in the month of May and mourn what could have been.
26. Bullshit your way through a tutorial.
27. Come in with a thick Cork accent, leave with a D4 twang.
28. Fall in love – and out of it.
29. Get another STI check... or a few more.
30. Graduate.

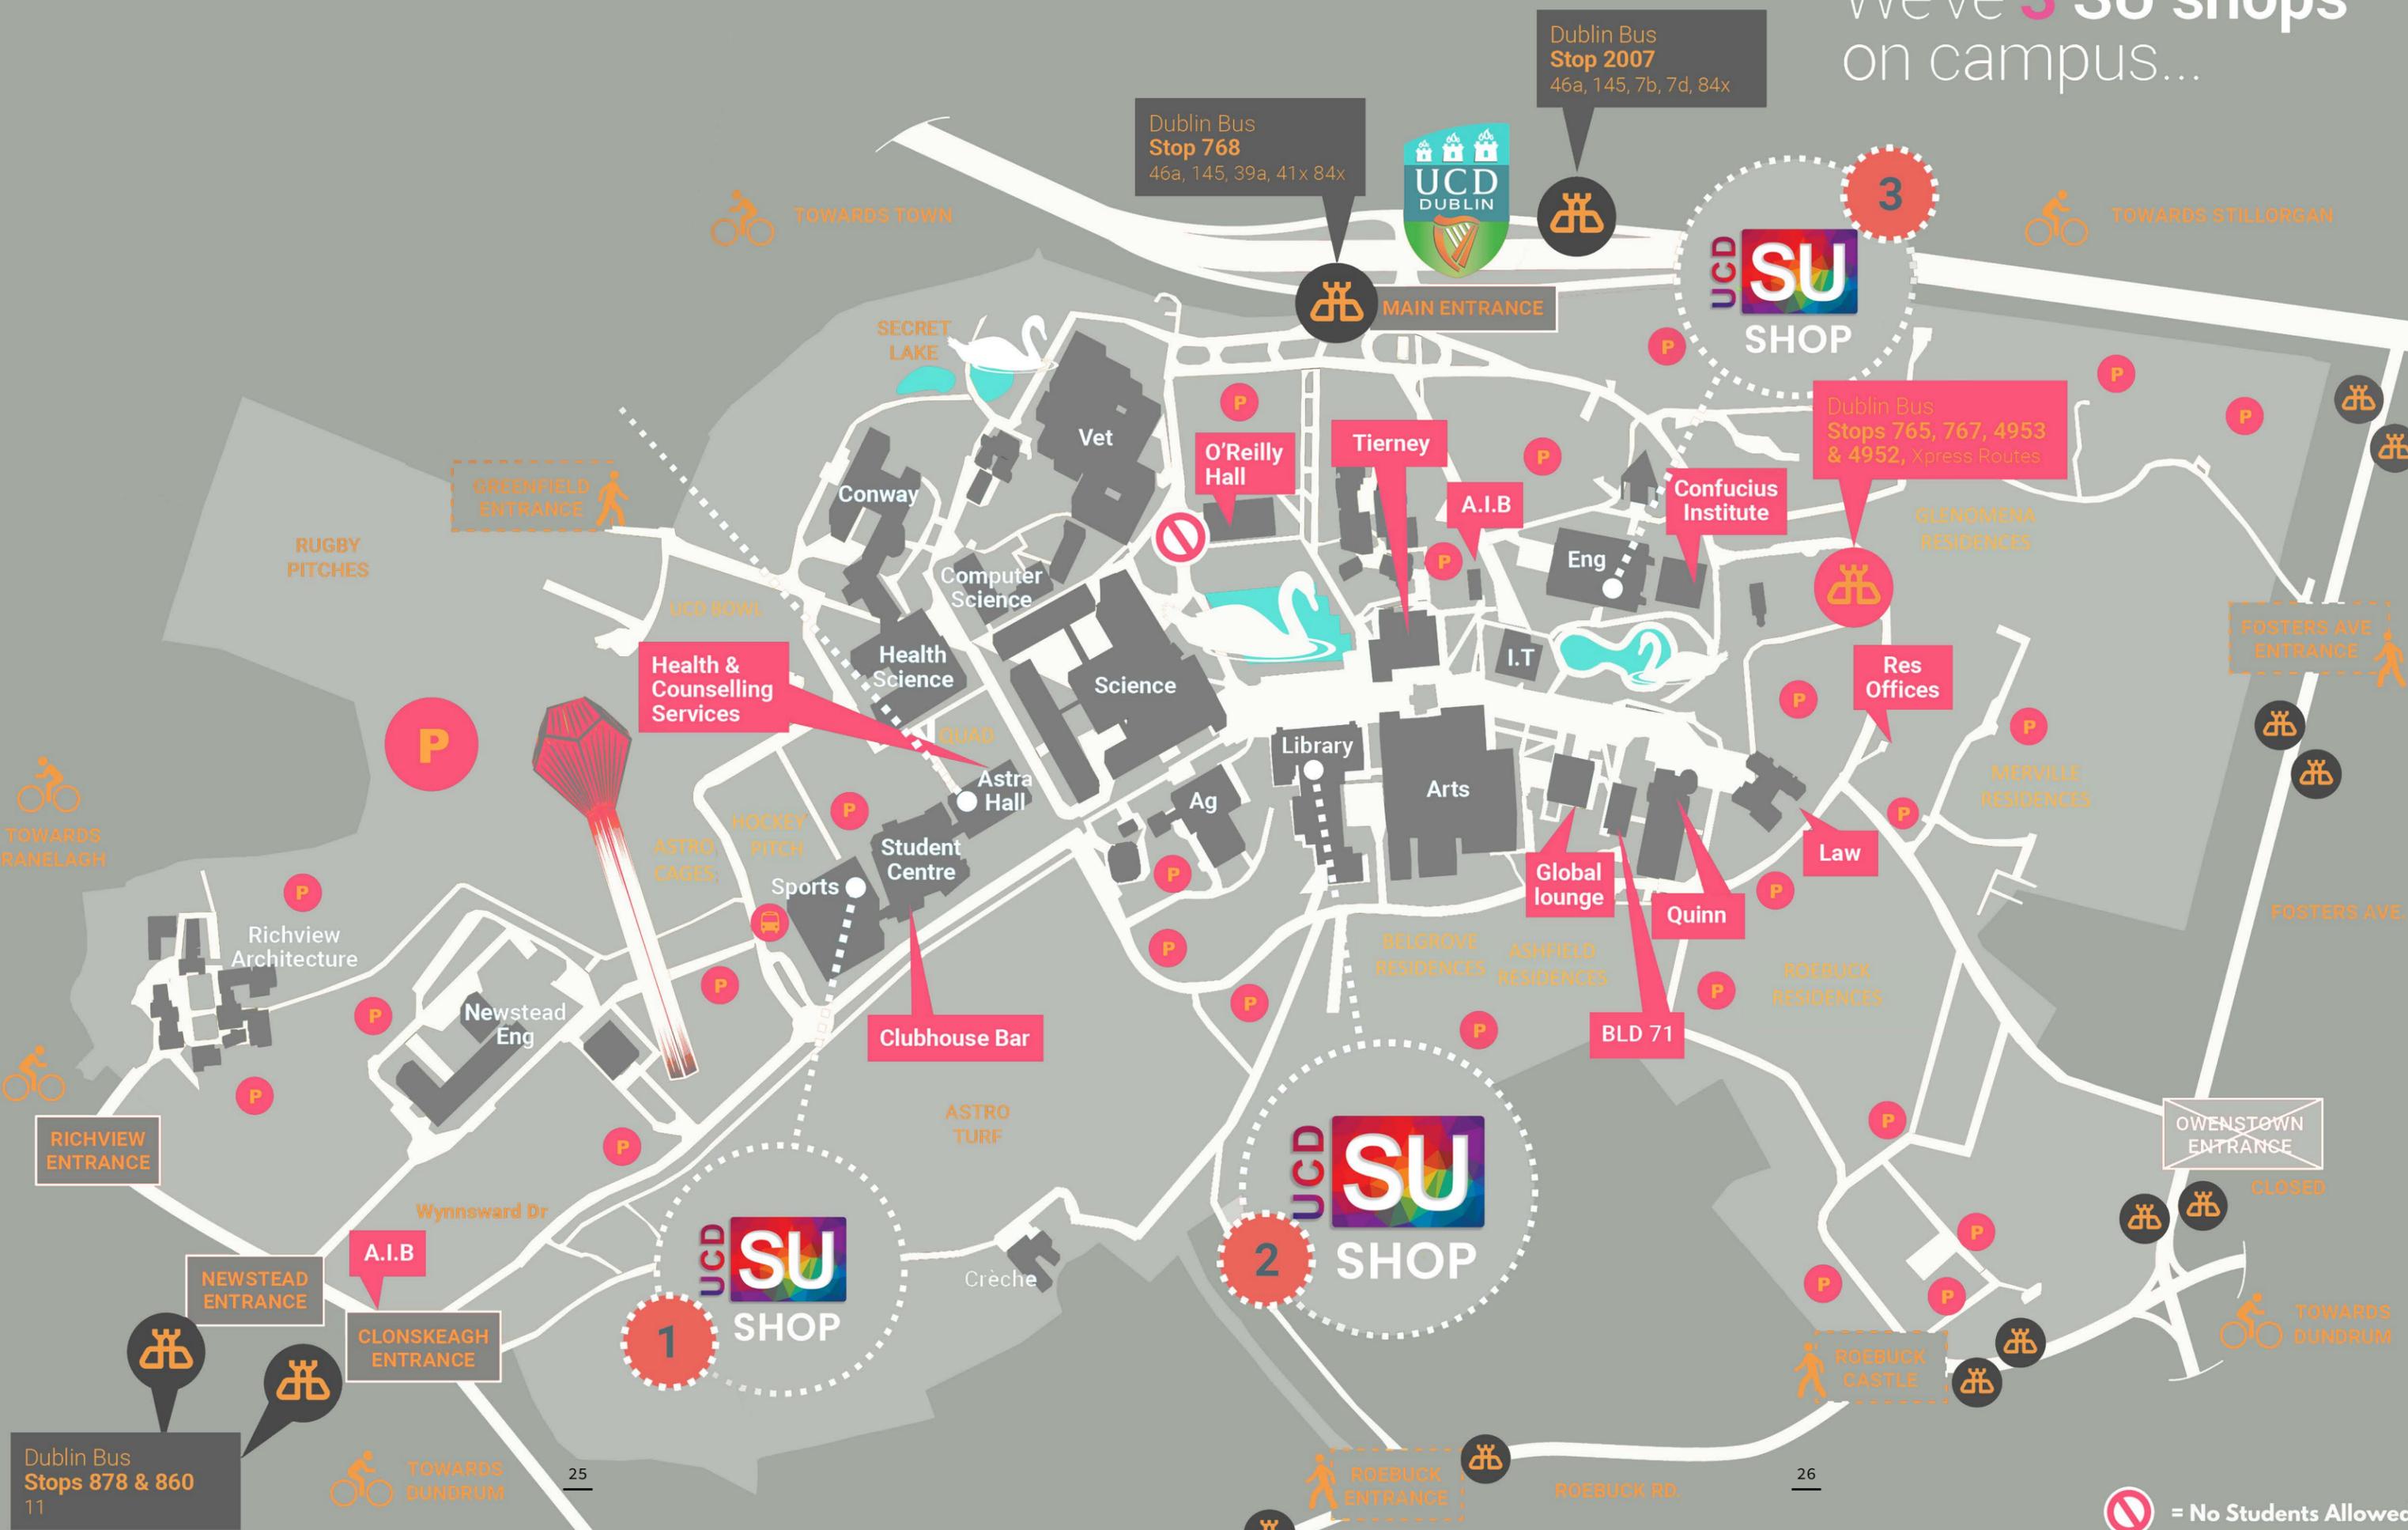

30 THINGS TO DO IN UCD BEFORE YOU GRADUATE

DUBLIN BUCKET LIST

1. The Adventure Rooms on Little Britain Street over on the Northside.
2. Leo Burdock's for a chipper. We recommend the original on Werburgh Street.
3. Dun Laoghaire to walk to pier and pick up a 99 at Teddy's. Believe it or not, they're now doing vegan ice cream! Poolbeg lighthouse walk not to be missed also.
4. Croke Park for a match. Champo is nearly over for now but check it out once the league starts up again in the Spring. As a student, you can get money back at the gates when you show your UCard or, if you're feeling cheeky, buy a kid's ticket for a fiver and pretend to be 15.
5. Check out one of the many SSE Airtricity League matches, women or men's (March – July), an evening at Dalymount to watch Bohemians is not to be missed.
6. Bray to Greystones Cliff walk. DART will bring you right out with some phenomenal views on a clear day. See also: Howth Head walks.
7. Killiney Hill, a doggos paradise – get glorious views and try your hand at rock climbing in nearby Dalkey Quarry.
8. Phoenix Park to see the deer. Magnificent animals, but don't feed them!
9. Walk along the Dodder – 5 mins from the UCD Clonskeagh entrance!
10. Glendalough: It doesn't matter if ye've already been with school, this place is a jewel in Wicklow and less than an hour away from Dublin.
11. People watch in Stephen's Green.
12. Go swimming at the Forty Foot. Make sure you've plenty of warm clothes for afterwards! Bonus points for checking out the lesser known Seapoint, Monkstown.
13. Get a free tour of the Dáil. Ring your local TD and they will be more than happy to entertain a potential voter.

14. Catch a film at The Lighthouse Cinema – they let you bring in wine! An equally glorious establishment – the IFI (Irish Film Institute), watch a classic or engage with the next indie masterpiece.
15. Check out the seriously talented buskers in the heart of Temple Bar.
14. Attend UCDSU Freshers' Ball, have the time of your life and an experience you won't forget.
15. Get cultural and visit one of our three National Museums around the city for free. The National Museum (Archaeology) on Kildare Street, The Natural History Museum (aka the Dead Zoo) on Merrion Street Upper and The National Museum (Decorative Arts & History) in Collins Barracks.
16. Get free audience tickets for an RTÉ show filmed up the road from UCD! Apply Online: <https://about.rte.ie/contact/audience-tickets/>
17. Visit the National Library of Ireland. They've an unreal Yeats exhibition on for all you scholars out there.
18. Disguise yourself as a Trinity student for the day and visit the Science Gallery on Pearse Street.
19. Bargain with street vendors on Moore Street.
20. Go to Dublin Fringe Festival in September!
21. Walk around the GPO and find the bullet holes from the Rising.
22. Explore art and gardens and the Irish Museum of Modern Art.
23. Enjoy some drinks at the Barge – the grand canal an underrated gem of the Dublin environs
24. Do a free walking tour of the city, relaxing but highly informative!
25. Check out the Temple Bar Farmer's Market on a Saturday.
26. Visit the Tea Garden on the North Quays for some elaborate tea and shisha.
27. Make the trip out to the War Memorial Park to see the beautiful rose gardens, but more importantly the beautiful doggos.
